MAINE'S SOMERSAULT
BEFORE THE RED INDIAN
SAYS GANDHI, 'TLL DIE'
By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1932 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MAINE appears to have gone
Democratic. That is the big news this morning. When Maine, home of Neal Dow, desert of Sahara dry and Gibraltar of Republicanism, goes Democratic in a wet year, it needs no ghost from the grave to tell what will probably happen.

TO REALIZE the importance of Maine's somersault, you must remember that Maine lacks the great industrial plants, with their tens of thousands idle and discontented, as in Pennsylvania and other states.

WALL STREET was in a doubtful mood yesterday, much like a child's balloon that can't make up its mind whether to go up or come down. Wall Street went down a little, then came up a little. It did not like the news from Maine.

CAMPERS near Elrama, Pa., digging into a hillside, uncovered
skeletons of human beings
that lived in America thousands of years before the noble redman came, supposedly from Asia. These earlier Americans, according to scientists examining their skulls, had more intelligence than the Indians that followed them. They were
"dolicocephalic," which means
"long headed," and their skull
bone was thin, which indicates that they had been thinking for a long time. But their jaws
were heavy and primitive,
showing lack of balance.

Invaders from Asia, probably better fighters, wiped them out.
THE learned Professor Darwin,
now 82 years old, son of the great Darwin, says our civilization is going to pieces soon if we do not breed a better race of white folk.
The kind produced is about ready to go downward, as other civilizations have done before us. What we need, according to Darwin, is more sons and daughters with intelligent fathers and mothers in place of the present plan which leaves most breeding to the "lower classes."

However, a so-called "lower-class"
mother that wants a baby, and is ready to nurse it, may be better for civilization than a higher-class lady that turns the baby over to somebody else while she fixes her eyebrows and her lips.

GANDHI, strange and sincere
Hindu, announces that beginning Sept. 20, he will eat no food and starve himself to death unless Britain comes to terms. He probably will carry out his threat, if the British are unable to feed him again.

Such a threat must puzzle common-sense Britons, unusually adept in dealing with subject peoples.
There is no knowing what excitement and trouble might arise in India if Gandhi should die of starvation.
Mrs. Pankhurst, and a few other courageous women, willing to go without food, forced women suffrage on England.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 14.—Fire starting in a basket of clothing, did $40

day.

American Legion Split
On 'Censure' Proposal

PLAN TO ADOPT
BONUS MEASURE

Bomb Threat Is Revealed;
Secretary Hurley Is Guarded

BULLETIN
(Portland, Ore., Sept. 14.—
Resolutions denouncing cancellation of European war debts and opposing adherence of the United States to the world court were reported favorably by the foreign relations committee as the American Legion resumed
its convention here today.
The resolutions and legislative committees were not yet ready to report the controversial bonus payment and B. E. F.
eviction resolutions when the delegates were called to order
by Commander Henry L. Stevens, Jr.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 14.—
The major issues before the American Legion convention—a committee-favored demand for payment of the bonus and a contested proposal to censure President Hoover—needed final tests today in the annual national meeting of the service
men's organization here.
The bonus resolution will come before the convention with endorsement of the majority of the legislative committee, but committeemen said the majority opposed the resolution censuring the President for the use of troops in ousting the
B. E. F. from Washington.

Hear of Bomb Threat
While the committees debated,
Legionnaires learned of an anonymous letter telling of plans of a
"red" organization to bomb the reviewing stand where Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and other officials sat during yesterday's parade. In revealing receipts of the note, federal and military authorities who refused to permit use of their names, said the stands were guarded all Monday night and the secret service detail assigned to Secretary Hurley was doubled.

Contradicting the announcement of determined opponents of the bonus payment, national headquarters said "no debate" is expected,
on that resolution.
Delay in reporting by the resolutions committee was the result of a one-man fight for the resolution criticizing the President. George Brown, Pennsylvania, member of the committee, refused to be swayed from his determination to force a floor debate on the B. E. F. after an hour's debate in an executive session of the committee last night.

Two Reports Expected

The result will likely be two minority reports, one by Reynolds on the bonus, and the other by Brown on the B. E. F.

Partisan political lines were ignored in the bonus and B. E. F. controversies.

Councilman Hits
At City Officials

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 14.—
Terminating recent job abolitions
and salary slashes "just a lot of burlesque" in comparison, Dr. A. C.
Frost, dentist, on the floor of city council Tuesday, charged that "negligence in the offices of the city auditor or city solicitor in the preparation of bonds legislation is costing East Liverpool taxpayers $21 a day in interest.
Frost, a ward councilman, assailed
city officials for the delay in liquidating notes of indebtedness totaling $135,000 for street and sewer improvements, after a motion
calling upon City Auditor Shelton J. Overdorf for a report on the outstanding notes, had been adopted.

Sheriff Probing
Fatal Auto Crash

AKRON, Sept. 14.—A head-on crash of two cars on the Akron-North Canton slag road which claimed one life and may take another was being probed today by deputy sheriffs who report only incoherent stories obtained from the injured.
Robert Weston, 32, of Akron, father of a week-old baby died at a local hospital several hours after the crash last night. Little hope is held for the recovery of Fred L.
Killian, 45, president of the Killian Manufacturing company, local rubber specialty concern.
Three other occupants of Killian's
car were hurt.
The Killian party was returning from the Uniontown Country club,
a resort in Stark county.

Progress of Time Is Shown
As 83rd Fair Gets Under Way

Agricultural Society Started Them Back In 1846 and Still Sponsors Fall Event

LISBON, Sept. 14.—Although Columbiana county began to hold fairs away back in 1846, the present exhibition, the 83rd, is being held under the direction of the organization that inaugurated the event,
though membership has changed.
The Columbian County Agricultural society was organized April 15, 1846. For more than 50 years, a fair season has never been missed although records disclose there were a few off years prior to 1850 when no exhibition was held.

Bought Land In 1853
The Agricultural society was reorganized March 5, 1851, with the election of John Ferrall as president. In the early part of 1853 the society voted to purchase six acres of land, a part of the present fair grounds, but this vote was re-considered at a later meeting and amended to purchase 15 acres, then known as the "Holmes" or "Seminary" property. This land cost $1,800.

Later the society sold four and one-half acres from this tract. A fence was then ordered built around the tract at a cost of 55 cents a rod, the contract being awarded to Joseph Springer.

Since then additional acreage has been purchased, giving the society
one of the largest fair ground tracts
in the state.
Old fair ground buildings have been razed and new ones erected.
Cattle barns have been enlarged as have the race stables. A new grand stand and a new auditorium have been built, and the grounds wired for night fairs.

More than 600 head of live stock have been entered at the fair this year, this not including the 750
head of poultry, the latter being entered principally by 4-H club members.

Gate admission to the fair this year has been reduced, both for the day and night fair.
Every rural school in the county has an exhibit this year, this department being under the supervision of H. C. Leonard, county school superintendent.
While many amusement features have been provided for the current fair, the major events will be K-9
Ranch rodeo acts between race
heats this afternoon and Thursday afternoon, and the American Legion Drum Corps contest tonight, in which 14 organizations have been entered. U. S. Army officers will be official judges. Thursday night the full rodeo will be presented, with music furnished by massed
high school bands of the county under the direction of Prof. Arthur Wise of Lisbon High school.

ens' responsibility for human welfare."

After opening at the White House, the conference will continue an all-day session at the Mayflower hotel. Among those from whom it will hear are:

New York Federal Reserve bank
and chairman of the association of community chests and councils;
Atlee Pomeroy, chairman of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Benson Is Named
In 2 Indictments

CANTON, Sept. 14.—Ralph Benson, who resigned several months ago as superintendent of the Stark County Workhouse after the federal government had canceled its contract for boarding federal prisoners,
today was named in two indictments, charging embezzlement of public funds.

Benson, who left Canton shortly after his resignation to accept a position in Cleveland, returned to Canton today to post bond of $2,000
for trial some time after Oct. 1.
A grand jury investigation followed recent discovery by state examiners of alleged discrepancies in the workhouse pay roll in Benson's tenure.

The indictments charged two specific offenses. One alleges Benson misappropriated $276 between Feb.
18 and April 15, 1930, and the other charges a similar offense in the amount of $155 between May 18 and June 15, 1929.
Benson resigned July 15. Several weeks ago, George Frey of Cleveland was appointed workhouse head.

Woman Disappears

COLUMBUS, Sept. 14.—Search was under way today for Mrs. June L. McKee, 35, widow of Capt. Frank McKee, former state director of aerobatics, who disappeared from her home after telling her mother
she wanted to "get away from everything."
The mother, Mrs. Mae Anger, expressed fear for her daughter's safety.

New Red Caesar?

Following the discovery of a plot to assassinate Joseph Stalin, Soviet Dictator, by government agents in Moscow,
there is a persistent rumor in European circles that Stalin
will shortly be ousted from leadership and that War Commissioner Voroshiloff (above) will take the reins. It is further reported that sweeping changes in the Soviet policy will follow
Stalin's fall.

SALEM POTTERY
BOOSTS OUTPUT

On 90 Per Cent Basis,
Officials Say; Recall
400 At Newell

With 275 men and women on the payroll, the Salem China company plant today was operating at 90 per cent capacity, officials announced,
as a result of an increased demand
from buyers.

The plant has been offering at least part-time employment to all of its workers but betterment of conditions as evidenced by the report of officials today, gradually provided additional work until this week when the 90 per cent capacity figure was reached.

Their announcement came simultaneously with the report of officials of the Homer Laughlin China company that they have recalled 400 employees at their Number 8 plant at Newell, W. Va.
The Newell plant had been idle
since June 1.

Previously Taylor Smith & Taylor
at Chester, W. Va., and the Edwin
M. Knowles China company at Newell increased production.

Receipts of new fall and winter delivery orders are given as the reason for the upturn in the chinaware industry.

mediate action to compel David

of her breach of promise suit against Hutton, is to be taken by nounced today.

In the event Hutton is without assets, as he has publicly stated, an attempt will be made to investigate the assets of the evangelist, Lorin Andrews, Miss St. Pierre's attorney said. He stated any money earned by Mrs. Hutton since her marriage would be liable to attachment.

The Huttons last night observed their first wedding anniversary with dinner at the parsonage of Angeler temple of which Mrs. Hutton is pastor.

MARSHAL'S AID,
MALLOY LAUNCH
PROBE OF FIRE

Deputy Fred M. Knapp of Ravenna Here for Investigation

FIREMEN CALLED BACK TO RUINS

Second Blaze at Hotel
Building Extinguished
In Afternoon

Seeking the cause of an explosion which early Tuesday morning shook the neighborhood and caused a fire which swept four South Broadway buildings and residences, Fire Chief Vincent L. Malloy and Fred M.
Knapp of Ravenna, assistant state fire marshal, today began an investigation of the $15,000 blaze.

Knapp, ordered to Salem after Malloy requested state aid in the probe from the Ohio fire marshal's office, arrived here shortly before noon and with Malloy planned to visit the scene of the blaze immediately.
Debris will be cleared away from ruined structures in hopes of finding some traces of the cause of the explosion, believed to have originated in or near an unoccupied storeroom owned by Angelo Volio.

Firemen, after battling flames in four buildings, the unoccupied
storefront and a vacant brick residence also owned by Volio, a boarding house owned by Mrs. Mary Gay and the Broadway hotel, owned by Mrs. E. E. Dyball, for more than four hours yesterday morning, were called back at 4:55 p. m. when sparks again ignited a section of the hotel's third floor.

Inspect Building Again
The blaze was extinguished with little trouble by firemen who last night made complete inspections of the hotel to prevent the possibilities of a third blaze.

Malloy, unable to start an inspection of the ruins of the Volio
building until all debris is cleared away, as yet declined to advance a theory as to the cause of the explosion which is definitely believed by both the fire chief and nearby residents, first on the scene, to have been the origin of the blaze.

The ruined buildings were fenced off by city's service department Tuesday afternoon and all persons were ordered by police to stay clear of ruins pending the completion of investigations.

ROME, Sept. 14.—The airplane
American Nurse, which is making its third attempt at a non-stop flight from the United States to Rome, had aroused the interest of all Italy today.

The air ministry instructed that a radio network be set up connecting all Italian air fields to report the progress of the plane, which was expected to reach Rome about midnight tonight. Word from the Azores said the plane had not been sighted there but all ships in the vicinity had been advised to be on the lookout.

The French coast was also watching for the American plane.

Musical Program
Is Presented By Church Orchestra

A delightful program of vocal and instrumental numbers was presented by members of the Bible school orchestra of the First Friends church, and other members of the school Tuesday evening at the church, under the direction of Walter Regal, conductor of the orchestra.

A large number of people attended the event.

Besides the selections by the orchestra there were vocal solos by Homer Ellyson, Miss Phoebe Ellen Parsons and Lorraine Derr, and a selection by the women's quartet, composed of Mrs. Edgar Derr, Mrs.
Grant Elton, Mrs. Harold England and Miss Olive Vincent, and the men's quartet, comprised of Harry Parsons, Homer Ellyson, Walter Regal and Kent Gilbert.

Miss Anna Cleland, pianist, gave a solo, "Sunday Morning Chimes"
while a medley arranged by La-moine Derr was played by a string quartet. In the quartet were Mr.
Regal, Miss Vincent, Edgar Derr

Miss Mary Herbert contributed a musical reading, "Trouble in the Amen Corner," with Mr. Regal and Miss Cleland playing a violin and

NEEDY BENEFIT
AS MULLINS AND
CIGARS BATTLE

Three-game Series to Get Under Way Thursday Night

REILLY STADIUM
SCENE OF ACTION

Red Cross Officials Stress
Importance of Raising Funds

For the benefit of Salem's American Red Cross chapter and to raise funds to aid in relief work among the city's needy, Salem's championship softball teams, the Mullins Foremen's club and United Cigars, will play a three-game series under floodlights of Reilly athletic stadium starting at 7:30 p. m.
Thursday.

Plans for the benefit event were announced today by W. H. Dunn,
Red Cross chairman, and J. M.
Kelley, director of community
athletics and organizer of sandlot athletic leagues here. Committees to assist in promoting plans for the series are being formed today.

Will Decide Championship
The series, as well as raising funds to aid the Red Cross in its extensive welfare work among unemployed families during fall and winter months, will also decide the city championship for the 1932 season. Mullins, titleholders in 1931, won the third round championship by defeating the Cigars in a game at Centennial park Tuesday.

Fifteen cents in cash or a can of beans, peck of potatoes, basket of fruit or vegetables will be the price of admission to the games.

While committee members announced that they preferred to receive cash for the admissions, they said that any donation of canned goods, fruits or vegetables will be accepted at the entrance gate.

Children will be admitted for 10 cents but may also attend via a donation of food.

Committee Is Named

Managers of the two teams proposed playing the series for charity, the plan being approved by Dunn at a committee session this morning. A general committee, composed of members of the city's athletic board of control, Mayor J.
M. Davidson, A. Earl Beardmore,
Joseph Reese and Robert Campbell,
Emmory Taylor and Emmett Harrison was named, with J. M. Kelley as chairman.

The second game will be played at 7:30 p. m. Monday. No game is booked Friday because of the opening interscholastic football game between Salem and Leetonia High eleven.

The third and deciding game, if necessary, will be played Tuesday night.

Sandwiches and other refreshments will be placed on sale at the stadium each of the three nights
with a committee composed of Miss Doris Chandler, chairman, Mrs. G.
R. Deming and Mrs. F. P. Mullins
in charge.

Points One Need

Dunn, explaining the Red Cross' need of financial assistance, announced that the mercy chapter at the present time is indebted to the amount of $1,458.81 to Salem
merchants for food, clothing, medicine, drugs, milk, coal and other supplies.

The detailed list follows:
Medical, $86; shoes $58.75; drugs
and medicine, $25.13; groceries, $60.28; milk, $296.10; coal, $2.56;
laundry, $22.97; and miscellaneous, $277.08.

At the present time, Dunn said, 350 families are receiving aid from various organizations of the city,
direct aid being granted to 250
families by the Red Cross.

Saved His Life

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 14.
They found the flying family.
They ought to left the father

Just to throw a scare into him

See where some more took off

lion dollar legs." Over that ocean is one place where legs
is no good to you, no matter what price they are.

Who said being secretary of war wasn't hazardous business?
Mr. Hoover drafted Pat Hurley to pinch hit for him, and face
the American Legion, and try and get some Republican votes.

Pat's speech sounded like the kingfish's over the radio.
"Now remember we is all brothers in that great fraternity, de mystic knights of de sea."

Pat got away with his life, but no votes.

THE MAINE VOTE

Missionaries fighting superstition work on harder than politicians do when the Maine vote is a presidential year seems unfavorable to their party. Glad enough to use the results when they are favorable they want no part of them when they are not.

Actually, of course, the decisions of Maine voters have nothing to do with national voting trends, despite the consistently publicized slogan "As goes Maine, so goes the nation." An apparently high percentage of success in prognostication is due solely to the fact that both Maine and the nation have been predominantly Republican since 1856. Eighteen of 19 Maine governors and 14 of 19 presidents elected since then have been Republicans. Incidentally, not one of five Democratic presidential victories, from the election of James Buchanan to the second election of Woodrow Wilson, was preceded by election of a Democratic governor in Maine.

Nevertheless, in defiance of indisputable evidence provided by the records, Democrats will make the most of their victory in Maine this year. Ignoring the fact that candidates for the governorship and congress were not elected on issues, but personalities, they will predict general success for the Democratic party because two out of three congressional seats and the governor's chair will be occupied by Democrats during the coming term. Republicans, realizing that slogans may rival facts in strength, will point out assiduously the facts stated above to counteract Democratic propaganda. They would have liked to carry Maine in last Monday's election. Failure to do so, however, does not prove Maine will not go Republican in November. As long as Pine Tree state Democrats figure their majority in the small figures of last Monday's poll, rock-ribbed Republicans feel they will be forced to close up shop for lack of support.

AVIATION NOTES

True friends of aviation—those who try seriously and intelligently to help it find its proper place—are smart enough to count to 10 when they read about such ventures as the Pascolla-Ulrich-Newcomer, groundhog flight. Exactly what there is to be gained by a doctor, a pilot and a nurse, who doubles in a parachute jumping strating to Rome in an airplane, with a groundhog for company, is hard to imagine.

Aviation's friends, having counted 10 and trying their best to be tolerant, can see no direct result but a circus angle added to aviation's inherent handicaps at this period in its development. Still, they can't deny people the right to do what they please, no more than true friends of the automobile could prevent young bloods of Rome in an airplane, with a groundhog for company, is hard to imagine.

The doctor in the group says he intends to make medical observations of the effects of trans-Atlantic flying. He believes more doctors and nurses should learn to fly, in order to prepare them for quick emergencies. The nurse, planning to honor Florence Nightingale by descending on Florence, Italy, via parachute, needs no further excuse. The pilot makes the flight in a professional capacity. The groundhog, expected to detect the presence of carbon monoxide, if any, has the best excuse of all for risking his neck. His master, the doctor, made the decision for him.

While this curious expedition was taking to the air Tuesday, another group, the Hutchinson family and aides, was being rescued. Aviation's silly season for 1932 must be almost over; men who are trying to build the public's confidence in flying hope it is.

THE FOURTH WINTER

This week there will meet in Washington a conference of community welfare leaders, in response to a call by the national citizens committee, welfare and relief mobilization of 1932. Newton D. Baker is the chairman.

The purpose of the conference will be to devise methods of dealing with the nation's gravest immediate problem—care of unfortunate Americans during the coming winter. It is the fourth of the depression period.

Perhaps it is expressing too much confidence to say that the conference will deal with methods. A more important purpose may be to establish morale to deal with a situation that easily can be made to appear hopeless. Welfare leaders do not know what will happen; they only know what must happen if millions of helpless people are to be protected from demoralization and starvation.

That there is possibility of starvation in a land of plenty, welfare leaders do not admit. That there is possibility, even probability, of demoralization, they are forced to admit by the pressure of their own intelligent perception. They do not see how enough money can be raised to provide for more than subsistence.

Nevertheless, they will not abandon their conception of what must be done. In the words of Newton D. Baker, "our problem is not whether we can afford to support health and character-building agencies, but whether we can afford not to." Believing that this will be the winter of greatest need, they will endeavor to convince their fellow Americans of the absolute necessity for giving more generously than ever before.

Charity will be reinforced by appropriations in every division of governments. Appropriations of sufficient size to relieve individual donors of their responsibility cannot be made, however, without sweeping alterations of a principle which Americans are not prepared to make on short notice.

The worst winter of the depression will be the severest trial this nation has undergone. Is it a sign of confidence or a sign of carelessness that it is so little regarded with winter but a few weeks away?

The Stars Say:

For Thursday, Sept. 15

The astral influences bearing rule on this day point to particularly lively and high pressure activities, with the energies, faculties and forces all tuned up to aggressive methods and splendid initiative. This dynamic force will break up old conceptions, obstacles and impediments and result in much profitable and stabilizing work, but there is peril in speculation, taking chances too easily and also from intrigues and secret or tricky manipulation.

If It's Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be ready for a year of high gauge activities with all the energies and faculties under fine stimulus to help initiative and profitable onslaught on old stagnations and impediments. There is important change, but reckless plunging gambling and taking chances would be hazardous. Diplomatic secret or strategic moves would be more gainful. A child born on this day may be bold, energetic, crafty, probably have a disposition to take reckless chances with life. However, it should be studious and clever and may make great success.

Taking of Pictures in Tokio for Commercial Purposes
Raised Storm in Junker Press, Charging "Serious

Rumor, gaining weight like a snowball rolling downhill, to the effect that the United States was peeling off its coat preparatory to making an assault on the Empire of the Rising Sun, was responsible for the visit of Ambassador Joseph C. Grew to the Japanese Foreign Office recently. The storm began when a Japanese newspaper saw a sinister motive in the taking of pictures in Tokio by the branch of the National City Bank of New York. These pictures, said the junker sheet, were intended for use by the United States military authorities. Other papers took up the cry, and very soon the Japanese people were being regaled with sensational stories of the activities of "American spies" in the Island Empire. Ironically enough, the pictures that caused all the furor were intended for promotion matter, illustrating business and industrial development in the Far East—in fact to boost Japan commercially. When Ambassador Grew called upon Foreign Minister Yasuya Uchida and requested that the Japanese Government issue a statement repudiating the charges of the press, he was informed that the newspaper accounts were untrue, baseless and due to the overzeal of the younger officers of the gendarmes. But Japanese officials naively confessed that they were finding it difficult to get the press to print a true version of the matter. All of which does not help American business in Japan, for, despite official denials, the junker press persists in its fantastic charges and is calling for a boycott of American banks.

Early Stages of Cancer Growth
Much information as well as a great deal of misinformation has been published about cancer. I am glad to say that while the cause of this disease has not been discovered, our knowledge concerning it has increased very greatly. Today I want to point out some of the many misconceptions about cancer.

In all probability cancer is not infectious, nor contagious. By this I mean it cannot be transmitted from one person to another. Many shun those afflicted with the disease for fear they may contract the disease. No case has ever been reported that has been definitely proved to be caused by direct contact with the disease.

Another false idea about cancer is that it is rapid in its progress and necessarily fatal. This belief has given rise to the comparison of cancer to a fire spreading rapidly in its destructive course.

No Proof of Heredity
It is true that after a certain length of time the cancerous cell multiplies and grows rapidly. In its early stages, however, it is slow in its growth. When recognized in this stage and proper treatment is applied, the disease is curable.

When overlooked or neglected, cancer is permitted to reach the stage of rapid growth. In that event the disease may spread to other parts of the body, this occurrence is called "metastasis." When it takes place, it is extremely serious.

I am frequently asked as to whether or not cancer is hereditary. It is a tendency to cancer exists in certain families has long been recognized. However, there is no proof that cancer is a hereditary disease. Nor is there any proof that an individual related to a family in which there have been many cases of cancer is more liable to the disease than one in whose family cancer has not occurred.

Need Not Be Fatal
Impaired health, general vague discomfort and loss of weight, may be the only signs of the disease. In the early stages of cancer, there is only slight pain; this increases as the disease progresses. The pain varies in intensity, too, depending upon the location of the cancer.

The number of cases of cancer has appeared to have increased within the past five years. It cannot be definitely said that the increased figures mean an actual increase in the number of cases now recognized in the early stages. In former years, when the X-ray and other advanced methods of diagnosis were not available to everyone, the disease was rarely recognized until pretty well advanced.

Please bear in mind that cancer need not be a fatal disease. By means of the X-ray, radium and modern casurgical technique, many cases of cancer can be definitely cured. This cure is only possible when the disease is recognized in its early stages.

Early diagnosis can be made if you report to your doctor at regular intervals. Take inventory of your health every six months. Do this regardless of how well you feel. Early discovery is the surest means of combating cancer and other ailments.

Third Queen Helen

It's a great year for Helens. We saw Helen Madison sweep the swimming laurels at the Olympics; Helen Jacobs do likewise in the national tennis championships and now here is Helen Fulton, of Chicago, with the trophy emblematic of the girls' national tennis title, which she won by defeating Bonnie Miller, of Los Angeles, in the final of the tourney at Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—Broadway offers the diversion of the old-time Barker at his bardest these days. Not even the insinuating whisperings of the cooch dance, or the exhibits, like the cooch dance, offer nothing but the ballyhoo.

One grand theatre of a decade ago is banished in vivid red thus: "Living Figures in Sex Madness." It is a slick bit of old-time Barnum showmanship. Analyze it and it means nothing. Inside one learns that a fourth-rate type of burlesque show is in continuous unfulfillment.

Scantly dressed corymbes amble unconcernedly, often chewing gum, across the stage. They are the "living figures in sex madness." At intervals there is the familiar "strip act." When the customer realizes he has been duped, he exits sheepishly and praises the performance to trick his friends.

Much patronage is inspired by the sucker egging on the prospective sucker. No one admits being "sold." The Salon de art is another garishly bedecked grotto, startling with its array of painted nudes outside. Inside it is about as exciting as the chariot race at the flea circus.

But there's no disappointment in the honeylipped mewling of the Barker. He is there with all his gay 90 pomp, roached hair, gold-tipped cane, paste diamond ring, over-Nagara mustache, cooling, "Snow now going on! The sensation of two continents. Step this way!"—yanking the yokels as easily as he did in your berg and mine.

I confess to suspicion of a choke over this throb in a letter from Jack Carr: "I knew there must be a depression when my mother wrote me she was an investment house bond widow. God bless her trusting soul. Scrimped and saved for years so that she might never be a burden but work independently through the twilight years. As though she could possibly be a burden ever. There must be some good in this awful depression if it brings mothers like that back to their boys."

On Lexington avenue in the 50's this morning I met a friend of long ago window shopping. He said that until recently he went everywhere in auto or taxi for a period of 15 years. "I'm broke now," he explained, "and have joined the walkers." And in departing, he called over his shoulder: "Say, you haven't seen n-thing unless you've provided about a 5 and 10." He's the same worldling who used to look bored at exciting first nights in other days.

A shoo on Lexington, too, has a parrot reputedly 54 years of age. Her owner says she will talk to no one save a policeman. It occurred to me—and it's a frail pun at best—that the bird may have spent early years around a police station and heard the police inquire: "So you won't talk?" And saw what happened!

A. C. Blumenthal who emblazoned the first pages as the man to carry on for Ziegfeld is one of the pinup executives with the dynamic quality of making himself felt in the business world. He weighs a little more than 100 pounds and to his intimates he is "Baumeys." His manner is sly until some subject comes up that interests him. Then all of a sudden, in excess of nervous energy he seems to tower like a mountain.

I once worked for a fly-sized managing editor whose feet when he sat in his swivel chair did not touch the floor. A roaring political bully who felt himself outraged by the day's editorial thundered in like a volcanic cloud. The clack of the typewriter was a sudden hush. Flustered, blood-streaked the moon. There is a legend the steady gaze sends the lion cowering back to the jungle. Our man, with the rest of us petrified, fled to the floor, walked briskly over to the railing and said: "I'm the managing editor here and you are making too much noise. Get out and quickly." The bully gasped, grew apoplectic, and as suddenly grew white, turned and left without a word. Later in life I came to know Marshall P. Wilder and I've always had tremendous admiration for "the little guys."

Then Chic Sale's story of his Dad who read the city paper headline: "Bank Robbed. Police at Sea." Then exploded: "Pay 'em to guard the town and they go a-fishin'!"

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 14.—For the second successive day, the Lake Erie conference of the Missouri Lutheran synod (English district, today left a place on its program for a discussion of birth control.

Papers on that subject and on the church liturgy had been prepared for presentation before the conference which yesterday re-elected Rev. H. W. Bartels of Cleveland, president and chairman, and re-named Rev. H. W. Romoser of Pittsburgh as secretary.

The 35 delegates at the opening session heard Rev. C. W. Baer of Fort Wayne, Ind., read a paper on the church liturgy and Rev. Martin Walker of Buffalo, N. SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Patricia Braithwaite adored her father so much that she was willing to sacrifice love and happiness to insure his future independence by marrying middle-aged Harvey Blaine for his wealth. It was Aunt Pamela who suggested that Pat marry wealth, warning that "the glamor of love wears off." Pamela spoke from experience; her own marriage to a young lawyer, Jimmie Warren, a handsome, successful, becoming dull. Jimmie, furious at Pat's engagement, awakens to the realization that he, himself, cares for her. Pat, with youth's optimism, hopes in vain that the young camper whom she only knows as "Jack", and saw only once, will rescue her from Blaine. Jimmie finds her in the garden, sobbing. He takes her in his arms and, in despair and hungry for love, she permits him to kiss her. Next day Pat breaks her engagement. Pamela is suspicious when, immediately following Pat's broken engagement, Jimmie offers to loan Pat money to study art. Pat's father is delighted with Jimmie's offer, saving his insurance (which he would not touch for himself, but felt justified in using for his daughter's career) was adequate for her needs. He plans to take Pat to Paris. One minute Patricia feels she cannot leave Jimmie, and the next, she loathes him for the kiss experience of the previous night. Then Jack arrives. Pat thinks—if he had only come yesterday, for today, he is too late and it is Jimmie she wants. Jack explains he stayed away because her "good-bye" seemed so final. Pat learns that he is wealthy Jack Lawrence, for whom a nationwide search was instituted a few years ago when he was kidnapped while enroute to his father's oil lands in Mexico. He tells Pat of his love and longing to take her into his arms at their first meeting. She sobs, "If you only had!"

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

She closed her eyes. Began talking rapidly, breathlessly, lest her courage fail her. She told him all that had occurred, beginning with her cousin's talk, the urgency and haste imposed on her by Pamela, of her hideous and brief engagement, not omitting her own hope that he would rescue her. Her face burned as she told him with what care she had dressed, how she had watched the ballroom entrances, expecting every touch on her shoulder to reveal him, and of her last wild hope that, not knowing her name, he was waiting for her on the beach believing she would come out to him.

"I was half mad," she said, two big tears stealing down her cheeks, "or I'd have known that things didn't happen like that in real life."

"Oh, my darling," he murmured, catching her in his arms. "No, No." She struggled to free herself. "I haven't finished. I didn't love you. I thought so. But I didn't. It was myself I loved. You represented a romantic escape. Oh, forgive me," she said as his arms slowly relaxed. "I can't let you go. I deceived. I myself was deceived. I know it now."

"How do you know?" His voice was harsh.

"Because—when you didn't come, I hid myself in the Palm park. Another man found me there, weeping. He took me in his arms. He loved me. I was desperate to be loved. He offered me rescue. And I, who hadn't loved anybody but myself and Daddy, suddenly loved another."

Jack sat still. The silver night drooped of its own weariness; the moon hung fleecily and palely in

"I was half mad," she said, "or I'd have known that things didn't happen like that in real life."

space, waving tattered cloud banners above a darkened sea where a few feeble stars rocked in the vast of their own light.

She reached out to him, touching his hand shyly, aching for his hand and her own; aching to comfort him and be comforted. He seemed unaware of her touch, turned inward upon himself, submerged and withdrawn—thinking what thoughts! Mysterious and detached.

Suddenly he sprang up, light, cat-like in his grace, and stood smiling down at her. Tall and straight, lightly poised, swaying to the movement of the sea.

He bent over the motor. His harsh voice cut across the resplendent night, shattering its quiet. Patricia watched him, her heart heavy, suffocated by the pity of it all. She saw the deep light falling on him, glinting on his smooth black head, draining his absorbed face of color.

Now and again he gave her a smile, friendly, withdrawn.

At the entrance of the hotel grounds he stopped, and taking her arm, turned back to face the sea. Behind them the dark quiet gardens; before them an intimate of light. A palm tree on the rim of sand, tall and slim, its dark plumelike head etched high against the silver wash, gave the whole picture a fabulous quality.

"Mostly Pat," he said in a low voice, "whenever you see the full moon, and wherever—I'll be thinking of you."

She laughed tremulously. "It's a long and wide promise. For whenever I go the moon will be there. When you are an old man, and I an old lady, dimly remembered by you, I'll step out some night, holding one of my grandchildren by the hand; and the full moon, smiling slyly down will wave her magic wand, and my grandchild—in the twinkling of an eye—will be a dark young man. My silver hair will be gold. The scene will be this. It's an unfair spell you're trying to put on me."

A low chuckle escaped him. "It was done with malicious intent. Wherever you go the moon will be there to remind you of this night and me. But—I may be there too—holding the other hand—of your grandchild. You don't think little Pat, now that I've found you I shall walk submissively out of your life, leaving you to this other man? You don't think I believe your love for him is legitimate? You told me you had never wanted a man to kiss you till yesterday in my tent. I was the man. The first man who stirred the somnolent womanhood in you. I let fear cheat us both. I feared to shock you and lose you. This other man caught you in rebound from my failure. He won your gratitude and you think that's love. I don't. He's got to fight me for you. Au revoir, Mostly Pat."

He turned swiftly away. She watched him push his boat off. He stood up waving to her, then began poling a dark figure swaying in rhythmic beauty against the silver mist. A little thrill caught her. The thrill of a young girl who has just received from a handsome young man the promise that he will fight for her, win her from another.

Patricia was awakened by an insistent rattling and swishing outside her windows. She sprang up, ran to lower the sash, and looked out on a streaming world.

Troubled by dreams of Jimmie and Jack in deadly combat, she had slept badly. Sometimes they were romantic gentlemen in short velvet breeches and brilliant coats, swords flashing in sunlight. Again they wore trunks and padded gloves, naked bodies straining, pommeling each other inside a prize ring. Now strange savage men wearing the skins of animals, themselves like animals. Hair flying, teeth gnashing, they wielded curious weapons of death. And always Jimmie seemed to have the better of Jack.

She dressed hurriedly. Her father had finished his breakfast and sat in conversation with a nearby couple. Long rows of white tables in pallid light. Forlorn faces bent over chilly grapefruit. Cold looking waiters. Shaws. Sweaters. Gloom. Loud complaints against the false advertising of Florida as a land of eternal sunshine. Assertions to the effect that it was never colder in the North than this morning. Talk of returning to steam heat and houses built for bad weather. All the intolerable aspects of a day without sunshine in Florida were being debated.

Patricia drank a cup of coffee and escaped. Her father followed her and she went upstairs with him to help him pack for his journey. "Now run along," he told her, "I must dress."

In the lobby entrance two bell-boys were divesting a tall man of a dripping mackintosh. Two others were rushing toward the desk with wet luggage. An oil hat covered the man's down-bent head. A boy took the hat and Patricia's heart leapt a beat as Jack's dark and smiling face was revealed.

"Even if I hadn't already heard an urgent call back to civilization," he called to her, his eyes shining, "the elements would have forced me. But I had packed last night anyway. Wait here for me," he added, following the bellboy past her. "I'll be right down, soon as I get in some dry logs."

She watched him leaning over the desk, saw the puzzled expression of the clerk's face as his quick glance at the register, and recognition. He spoke to Jack eagerly. Jack talking to him. Protest in the clerk's face; then, slow agreement and the serious air of a fellow conspirator.

"He has promised not to give Jack's name to the papers," she thought. "He didn't want to. But Jack is the kind of a man who gets what he wants—usually."

Auburn Auto Goes To Seventh Place

New car registration figures for the month of July show Auburn in seventh position nationally as compared with twelfth position for the month of June. N. E. McDarby, vice president in charge of sales of the Auburn Automobile company, said today:

This remarkable advance in position, Mr. McDarby said, was due to the success of the new Auburn merchandising program, instituted early in June. This program has proved a powerful stimulant to business because it has brought prices of a big, quality, 100-horsepower Straight-Eight Auburn car down to where they compare with those of the three smallest and lowest priced cars, and the prices of the twelve to where they compare with those of most eights and many sixes, he said.

The success of this program gained fourth and fifth place in new car registrations for Auburn in many of the leading cities of the United States, during the months of June and July. Mr. McDarby said, and it enabled Auburn to maintain this position through the month of August in most of these centers.

MARKETS

STOCKS REGAIN FORMER POISE

But Chastened Bulls Hesitate to Resume Their Campaign

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The stock market regained its poise today, after the convulsions of the past two sessions, but bulls appeared chastened, and showed little inclination to resume their campaign.

Trading Less In Volume
The market crept up 1 to more than 2 points, presumably reflecting short covering, during the morning, but slid back after midday, losing most of its gain. The list hardened again, however, as it came close to yesterday's closing prices. Trading was in less than half the volume of yesterday.

Among issues registering extreme gains of around 2 points were U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Westinghouse, Case and International Harvester, but these gains were later reduced to fractions. Utilities responded to the weekly power output report with numerous gains of 1 to 2 points, appearing in such issues as Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, Public Service of N. J., National Power and Light, American Power and Light, Detroit Edison, and Standard Gas, but these advances were not fully maintained. White Motor jumped 3 in response to the Studebaker merger plan, but Studebaker was barely steady.

Loses Third of Rise
The Midweek Electric Power and Steel Production reports continued mildly favorable, but did not indicate sufficient change to fire the market with any fresh bullish enthusiasm. Usually well-informed brokerage quarters reported that the market had attracted support of an excellent quality around the low levels of the reaction of the past two sessions, but there was a notable tendency among the trading element to see whether the support levels established could be maintained. The list had lost about a third of its extreme rise from July to September and could not break away much further without exceeding the proportions of a mere technical or secondary reaction.

LEGAL NOTICE
Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of said Township School District that the proposition of levying an additional tax for school purposes, outside of limitations of law, in order that the said school district may qualify for participation in the State Educational Equalization fund, will be submitted to the electors of the said district on occasion of the November 8, 1932 general election.

Said extra levy is declared by the Board of Education of the said school district to be necessary, because the amount that can be levied within the limitations of law will not be sufficient to pay the expenses of the said district's school.

The question to be determined is, shall the said school district, for participation in the State Educational Equalization fund and levy tax outside the 15 mills limit, for the current expenses of the said school district, in an amount equal to the average tax levied outside of said limitations for the current expenses of schools by all the school districts in the State of Ohio which do not participate in said fund, but in no case to exceed three mills for such period as the district may participate in said Educational Equalization fund?

Said extra levy is declared by the Board of Education of the said school district to be necessary, because, by the exercise of all authority under the limitations of law, the maximum that can be levied for school purposes will be insufficient to pay the current expenses of the said school district and it is expedient to levy additional taxes by virtue of authority granted by law, when the proposition is approved by the electors of the said school district.

The question to be decided is, whether or not a levy of not to exceed three mills additional to that authorized under limitations of law shall be made, for school purposes, for a period of not to exceed five years.

Notice is hereby given that the proposition to levy an additional tax, for school purposes, over and above the maximum authorized under all limitations of law, be submitted to the qualified electors of the above mentioned school district, on occasion of the November 8, 1932 election.

Said extra levy is declared by the Board of Education of the said school district to be necessary, because, by the exercise of all authority under the limitations of law, the maximum that can be levied for school purposes will be insufficient to pay the current expenses of the said school district and it is expedient to levy additional taxes by virtue of authority granted by law, when the proposition is approved by the electors of the said school district.

Paul Bern's Will, Missing, Adds To Suicide Mystery

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—The suicide of Paul Bern flung another mystery today into the inquiries of investigators, already muddled in the hunt for a motive and the disappearance of a sweetheart of his past, the elusive Dorothy Millette.

Authorities who pined much on a sealed safety deposit box, found when they opened it yesterday, hardly more than two simple papers bequeathing annuities to Miss Millette, and cash gifts to relatives and friends.

They failed to find a recently executed will in which the 42-year-old film executive presumably made his widow, the blonde screen beauty, Jean Harlow, his chief beneficiary. Miss Irene Harrison, for six years secretary to Bern, said she might have been "mistaken in where the document was placed."

Dr. Edward B. Jones, personal physician to the film director, arriving from a hurried trip to Honolulu, repeated the generally accepted theory Bern was subject to "fits of depression" and probably ended his life because of a "melancholia" which induced a "suicide mania."

Meanwhile no trace had been found of Miss Millette, who disappeared from a San Francisco to Sacramento steamer after Bern's body was found in his Beverly Hills home on the morning of Sept. 5.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

This has been a great Summer for week-ends and visits to people's country and suburban homes. So many of us have stayed in town this year and found it very pleasant to be able to break up the Summer into pleasant little visits and to realize that our friends like us enough to invite us to their homes. And so of course we all of us will want to buy gifts to send to our nice friends, and hostesses—not merely perfunctory bread-and-butter gifts, but things that will really express our appreciation of their kindness and hospitality. And at the same time such gifts should express our own good taste, our success at finding that "something different" which sets a gift apart from its fellows.

If you hostess is the mother of a small youngster, she'll appreciate ever so much, some toy or gadget that will amuse said youngster. And there are a whole brood of happy, thriving youngsters, one of the new games that are forever being invented will make you a favorite visitor when you come again.

To help the family acquire the policy of thrift there's a grand new musical bank that obligingly plays a tinkly tune every time a coin is placed in it. When the bank is full, well then, there's a fund to take care of some more visitors!

If you know your hostess very well and you are aware that she likes a "bonne bouche" or delectable tidbit, then she will appreciate some food luxury or other. How about six beautifully decorated jars of Greek or Assyrian honey, or some little pottery jars of imported biscuits—something different canape pastes, or a tin of cereal from anything that she uses.

Of course as we have just said, these gifts are for the well-beloved and understanding hostess. The other kind might take such a gift for a criticism of the food served to her guests.

If you have enjoyed several visits to a home or have been fortunate enough to receive an invitation for a protracted stay, then you will want to reciprocate with a gift that is a little more lavish. Very lovely and not at all expensive is one of the new table jungle centerpieces. There is a mirror base, all sorts of glass animals and glass trees. With a gift of this kind, you can assemble the base, a couple of black glass elephants and a glass palm tree and your hostess will never be tired of telling her other friends how artistic and thoughtful a woman you are. And from time to time, you can add a tree or an animal to your initial gift. For the gardening hostess there are always new and fascinating gadgets that she will appreciate. A half dozen hankies with the name of the recipient embroidered thereon is always a welcome gift indicative of good taste and judgment.

PLEDGES RELIEF TO AGRICULTURE

Roosevelt Outlines Six-Fold Program In Kansas Address

The specifications were: "First—The plan must provide for the producer of staple surplus commodities, such as wheat, cotton, corn (in the form of hogs), and tobacco, a tariff benefit over the world prices which is equivalent to the benefit given by the tariff to industrial products. This differential benefit must be so applied that the increase in farm income, purchasing and debt paying power will not stimulate further production.

Must Finance Itself
"Second—The plan must finance itself. Agriculture has at no time sought and does not now seek such access to the public treasury as was provided by the futile and costly attempts at price stabilization by the federal farm board. It seeks only equality of opportunity with tariff-protected industry.

"Third—It must not make use of any mechanism which would cause our European customers to retaliate on the grounds of dumping. It must be used upon making the tariff effective and direct in its operation.

"Fourth—It must make use of existing agencies and so far as possible be decentralized in its administration so that the chief responsibility for its operation will rest with the locality rather than with newly created bureaucratic machinery in Washington.

Must Be Voluntary Plan
"Fifth—It must operate as nearly as possible on a cooperative basis and its effect must be to enhance and strengthen the cooperative movement. It should, moreover, be constituted so that it can be withdrawn whenever the emergency has passed, and normal foreign markets have been re-established.

Must Be Voluntary Plan
"Sixth—The plan must be, insofar as possible, voluntary. I like the idea that the plan should not be put into operation unless it has the support of a reasonable proportion of the producers of the exportable commodity to which it is to apply. It must be so organized that the benefits will go to the man who participates."

Mullins Upsets Cigars, 8-6, To Cop Third Round Championship

THE DAY IN SPORTS

BIG TEN CALLS
NEW COACHES

MORE THAN 500 candidates answered the opening call to football practice in the Big Ten conference for 15 days of training before the opening of the season Oct. 1.

With the exception of Chicago, which has a warm-up game with Monmouth college Sept. 24, all the Big Ten schools will play their first games Oct. 1.

After two years in which Northwestern and Michigan have practically dominated the Big Ten, the approaching season is likely to see a better-balanced league in which four or five teams will be of about the same strength.

Illinois, Iowa, Chicago and Indiana, the weakest teams in the Big Ten last year, all promise to have stronger teams in 1932, especially Chicago and Illinois.

Northwestern and Michigan are not likely to be quite as strong as they have been in the past two years. Minnesota, Ohio State, Purdue and Wisconsin are due to be more powerful with a chance that only one of the four may battle its way to the championship.

THREE NEW COACHES are in the conference this year. Ossie Solem has succeeded Burt Ingerson at Iowa. Dr. Clarence W. Spears has replaced Glenn Thistlethwaite at Wisconsin and Bernie Bierman has taken over Fritz Crisler's job at Minnesota.

The Big Ten is looking forward to a successful financial season with the advance sale to several games already indicating sellouts.

The Michigan-Northwestern game at Ann Arbor Oct. 8 promises to draw a capacity crowd of 40,000. Other games which promise to draw large crowds are Michigan-Ohio State, Purdue-Minnesota, Purdue-Northwestern, Wisconsin-Ohio State, Northwestern-Minnesota, Ohio State-Northwestern, Minnesota-Wisconsin and Michigan-Minnesota.

Quite a few additional all-star softball selections have been received but the victory of the Mullins Foremen's club over the United Cigars yesterday makes unnecessary the selection of such an aggregation.

However, from the teams handed in, the following players obtained the greatest number of votes, forming this outfit:

CATCHER—Pete Sartek (Hardware).

PITCHERS—McConnell (V. E. F.), Christen (Ohio Edison).

INFIELD—Boelen (Mullins) 1b, Kelley (Legion) 2b, Campbell (Mullins) 3b, M. Sartek (Hardware) ss.

OUTFIELD—Borton (Mullins) rf, Fitzpatrick (Mullins) lf, Debnar (Mullins) cf, J. Sanders and A. Sveds (Hardware), rf (tied in total votes).

An all-star team submitted by a fan today:

E. May (Cigars) 1b; J. Schwartz (Cigars) 2b, Kelley (Legion) 2b, Campbell (Mullins) 3b, Borton (Mullins) ss, Fitzpatrick (Mullins), Borrelli (Cigars) and A. Sveds (Hardware), outfield.

John Fisher (Cigars), catcher, and Eddie Miller (Cigars) and George McPeck (Chicks), pitchers.

Because Marshall college this fall becomes a probationary member of the Buckeye conference, the Huntington, W. Va., school will change its rule regarding freshman competition. Heretofore freshmen have been eligible for all varsity sports. This year they will be ineligible and will compete only among themselves as in other Buckeye conference colleges.

Again Crowned King of Courts

His for the second consecutive year, Ellsworth Vines, of California, is shown being presented with the American tennis championship trophy at Forest Hills, Long Island. The lanky California youth defeated Henri Cochet, French champion, in straight sets in the final match. His previous victory at Wimbledon, England, makes Vines the undisputed tennis king of the world.

Invader, with a mile in 2:05 3-4 at Middletown, N. Y., is the new trotter over a half-mile track. His performance is one of the most brilliant of the season and many breeders expect him to better it in succeeding weeks.

Candidates of the Navy varsity football team are shown during their first workout of the season at Annapolis, Md. Coach Rip Miller gives his boys lessons in the essential art of swerving and running in "broken field" technique in the manner shown. Old automobile tires come in useful for making the middies masters of agility.

Yankees defeat Indians; clinch league pennant

Pipgras subdues tribe; Cubs, Giants split even in twin bill

By Associated Press

With the American league pennant tucked away, the Yankees sat back today and watched the progress of the race in the National and figured out what to buy with their share of the world series receipts.

They assured their participation in the classic with yesterday's 3 to 3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

While there still is some semblance of a fight for the National diadem, the Yankee secret service can feel pretty safe in centering its activities on the Chicago Cubs.

Cubs Increase Lead

By dividing a double bill with the New York Giants yesterday while Pittsburgh was being whitewashed by Ed Brandt of Boston, the Cubs increased their lead to five and a half games with 12 to play.

George Pipgras, veteran Yankee, held the Indians to eight hits yesterday while his mates piled up 16 blows off Clint Brown and George Connolly.

The Athletics sat idle as the Yanks sewed it up while the third place Washington Senators were taking a 4 to 1 trimming from the White Sox. The St. Louis Browns trimmed Boston's Red Sox, 9 to 4.

Giants, Chicago Divide

The Cubs and Giants had a pair of grand tussles at the Polo grounds, Chicago taking the first, 3 to 1, but dropping the nightcap, 3 to 2.

Home runs by Wally Berger and Bill Urbanski featured the Braves' 3 to 0 win over Pittsburgh.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, still clinging to a mathematical chance at the pennant, downed St. Louis twice, 6 to 5, in 11 innings, and 3 to 1. Chuck Klein hit his 36th home run, a double and a single to help the Phillies crush Cincinnati, 7 to 1.

Indians Undecided On Toledo Purchase

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—While the management of the Cleveland Indians debates whether or not to complete the purchase of the Toledo American Associated Franchise the Mud Hens apparently are trying to help make the proposition more attractive by reaching third place.

The Indians must decide by tomorrow, and the huns today were in a virtual tie with Milwaukee for fourth place.

While the Brewers were losing to St. Paul yesterday, 8 to 7, Toledo bumped off Louisville, 11 to 1, using the old fashioned slugging method.

The Hens pounded Dick Bass and Kola Sharpe, a pair of Colonel youngsters, for 18 hits, bunching them in the second and fourth innings for five runs in each.

St. Paul turned on a sensational ninth inning rally which ended when Ben Paschal stole home.

Indianapolis gained another game on Columbus trimming the Red Birds, 4 to 1, in a night game.

Judgment of a Solomon

Having listened to arguments by both the father and mother of the child in a legal battle for her custody, Judge C. L. Shinn of Los Angeles court decided to hear what the child herself had to say about the matter. So he took Thomasina Mix, 10-year-old daughter of Tom Mix, film star and his former wife, Mrs. Victoria de Olabazal, to his private chambers and on what she told him he based his judgment. The child loves both parents and will spend part of the time with each. Here is the judge questioning Thomasina.

Victors in California Primary

Here are the two political warriors who will carry the G. O. P. and Democratic senatorial standards for California in the coming elections. At left is William Gibbs McAdoo, war-time Secretary of the Treasury, who won the Democratic nomination by defeating Justus F. Wardell, of San Francisco, by a huge majority. At right is the Republican nominee, State Senator Tallant Tubbs, also of San Francisco, known as a "dripping wet," who led U. S. Senator Samuel Shortridge by more than 20,000.

"DOCTOR X," mystery melodrama, completes its run today at the State theater. Lee Tracy, Fay Wray, Lionel Atwell, Preston Foster and John Wray portray the important roles in this story of thrills, shivers, laughs and romance.

The film, which is all in technicolor, tells of a certain Doctor Xavier and his associates in a medical research laboratory who are brought under suspicion by police when several murders are committed in the vicinity. To avert scandal, Dr. Xavier conducts his own investigation to discover the murderer. Much to his disgust a young newspaper reporter (Tracy) trails the story to the doctor's country home where he complicates matters for himself and all concerned when he falls in love with Xavier's daughter.

He falls heir to a series of adventures in this eerie atmosphere and is right on hand in the very room in fact, when the solution to the mystery and the murderer are found.

Tracy, who again plays one of his reporter roles, is grand. His light comedy helps break the tense drama of the plot.

ATTRACTIONS for the State Thursday show "Stranger in Town" with a splendid cast composed of "Chic" Sale, Ann Dvorak, David Manners, Noah Berry and Raymond Hatton.

The plot gives us a touch of novelty as far as Sale is concerned, for it opens in the covered wagon days when, as a young pioneer, he drops out of the wagon train to start the town which later contains his general store. In this sequence we see, for the first time, Sale without his makeup and his own natural self. But the bulk of the picture is laid in the present time where Sale, aged and bewhiskered, is town postmaster and owner of the only grocery store in the town.

On the same train on which his granddaughter returns from college is a young man who was sent out to start a chain grocery store branch in opposition to Sale. To complicate matters, the two young people fall in love, thus throwing impediments in the way of the fight which ensues between the two stores.

SCAN RESULTS OF PRIMARIES

Political Leaders Try to Pick Up Signs of November Trend

(By Associated Press) Eager for signs of November trends, political leaders scanned results of eight primaries today, watched Georgia Democrats go to the polls, and pondered still Monday's Democratic victory in Maine's off-season election.

In the absence of inter-party clashes, prohibition's influence, as an issue, was receiving attention from party chiefs in checking yesterday's primary ballots. In other sections they saw veteran office-holders fighting to hold their jobs.

Moses and Dale Renamed In the east, Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, and Senator Proter Dale of Vermont were renamed by the Republicans for the senate. Senator Ellison D. Smith, four-term veteran, again was named by Democrats in South Carolina over former Senator Cole L. Blease.

Michigan's incomplete returns indicated the renomination of all incumbents in the house of representatives. Representatives Jesse P. Wolcott and Seymour H. Person, Republicans, apparently had won renomination over Louis E. Cramton and Grant M. Hudson, former members and once leading prohibitionists in the house.

With the backing of Senator Huey P. Long, Representative John H. Overton was victorious in winning the Democratic senatorial nomination in Louisiana from Senator Edwin B. Croussard. Long's state led throughout most of the state.

Early returns in Washington's primary found Senator Wesley L. Jones, sponsor of the Jones "five and ten" prohibition enforcement law, holding a narrow lead for renomination in the Republican primary. He was opposed by Adam Beeler, repeal candidate. The vote was heavy and counting slow.

Colorado Democrats put John T. Barnett into a slight lead over Alva B. Adams in the senatorial race on a record-breaking vote for record. Karl C. Schuyler topped Nate C. Warren in the Republican senatorial contest.

Moer Takes Lead In Arizona, B. B. Moer took an early lead on Democratic ballots over the veteran George W. P. Hunt for the gubernatorial nomination which is expected to be tantamount to election. J. C. Kinney was ahead in the Republican contest for the same office.

The gubernatorial primary in Michigan gave Governor Wilbur Brucker an increasing margin in the Republican race and William A. Comstock in the Democratic. Michael J. Hart, the state's only Democratic representative in congress, was renominated without opposition.

Vermont Republicans again named Stanley C. Wilson for the governor's chair and Ernest W. Gibson for congress. Gibson favored resubmission of the prohibition question against a repealist opponent.

Across the line in New Hampshire, Democrats selected Fred H. Brown to oppose Senator Moses in November. Representative William N. Rogers, a Democrat, was renominated and will be opposed by William P. Straw, Republican.

Opposed By Governor Today in Georgia, Representative Charles P. Crisp, legislative veteran, sought the Democratic senatorial nomination. He was opposed by the youthful Governor Richard B. Russell. Senator William F. George was unopposed for renomination in this state where the Democratic nomination usually means election.

Ten Georgia congressional seats also were at stake. Half a dozen contests sought the gubernatorial nomination. A regional primary in Mississippi found Representative Robert S. Hall leading W. M. Colmer for the Democratic congressional nomination in a runoff contest.

Once-Penniless Immigrant Controls McCormick Estate

Edward Dato, Who Bought Krenn's Claim to Estate of John D's Daughter, Was Destitute Fugitive From Russia. Holdings Once Valued at $40,000,000 May Be Worth Nothing.

Because he did not want to be implicated in a possible legal battle over the estate of the late Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Edwin Krenn, to whom the wealthy woman willed five-twelfths of her fortune, sold, for a $25,000 annuity, his claim to Edward A. Dato, the third partner in the gigantic realty venture, valued at from $18,000,000 to $25,000,000, which was founded and financed by Mrs. McCormick. The careers of Dato and Krenn are interwoven in an intricate pattern with that of the Chicago millionaire. Krenn met Mrs. McCormick just after she had graduated from a school of psychoanalysis in Zurich, Switzerland, and started a cult of her own. He was her first pupil and the wealthy woman was so attracted to him that she brought him back with her to the United States, where she financed him in a real estate business. Dato, who had known Krenn at a Zurich engineering school, whither he had fled from revolution-torn Russia, entered the picture at about the time that his former school friend was rumored engaged to marry Mrs. McCormick. The proposed union having been vetoed by the Rockefeller and McCormick clans, the wealthy woman entered into a giant realty venture with Krenn and Dato. It was called the Edith Rockefeller Trust. It is the control of the huge holdings of this trust that Dato recently bought from Krenn. However, according to lawyers and accountants engaged in making an inventory of the estate, the drop in real estate values has shrunk the original values of the holdings to almost nothing.

TELLS HOW HE RESCUED FLIERS

Trawler Captain Caught Hutchinson's Light Signals In Code

By CAPTAIN THOMAS WATSON Master of the Trawler, Lord Talbot (By Associated Press)

TRAUWLER LORD TALBOT, Sept. 14—(By Radio)—The red light of a flare, winking out a message in Morse code over a Greenland ice field, led me yesterday to the spot where the flying family of George R. Hutchinson was stranded, and made possible their rescue.

My ship arrived at Angmagssalik, Greenland, last Sunday afternoon on the way to the fishing grounds at Cape Dan.

Almost immediately we picked up the SOS from the plane, the City of Richmond. The signals gave us the plane's position as about 25 miles off the coast. I gave orders to steam there immediately, under full pressure. Shortly after 6 p. m. we reached the spot but could find no trace of the plane.

We continued our search after dark but the icebergs made night navigation difficult. We sent up rockets at intervals, but received no reply.

Shortly after nightfall Monday night we sighted a flare ahead. I again ordered full speed ahead.

We entered Ikroavik Fjord, south of Angmagssalik, at 1 a. m. and noticed that the flares were coming from the lower end of the fjord. We sent out light signals in Morse code which were answered by the Hutchinsons. The mate landed and talked with Hutchinson, who told him everybody was well.

The boat returned to the trawler and the mate said Hutchinson and himself had decided to swell was too heavy to permit an embarkation attempt during the darkness. The airplane, he said, was a total wreck.

Soon after dawn, we sent out the boat again and began bringing the Hutchinsons and their crew aboard. It took three hours.
